Learning Objective : This course equips school counsellors and well-being professionals with the knowledge and strategies to support students’ career awareness, decision-making, and life skills development within school contexts. Participants learn how to guide exploration, manage career-related stress, and build transferable skills without imposing choices or exceeding professional boundaries.

Course Modules	Brief Course Module Descriptions
SP7301 – Understanding Career Development in Children and Adolescents	This module explores how career interests, aspirations, and self-concept evolve across developmental stages. Participants learn why students feel uncertain or pressured about future choices. Developmental readiness for decision-making is emphasised.
SP7302 – Career Awareness and Exploration in School Settings	Focuses on introducing students to career possibilities without narrowing options prematurely. Participants learn age-appropriate career exploration strategies. Exposure and curiosity are prioritised over decision-making.
SP7303 – Supporting Decision-Making and Goal Setting	Explores how to help students think through choices, strengths, and interests realistically. Participants learn structured decision-making frameworks. Autonomy and informed choice are emphasised.
SP7304 – Life Skills for Academic and Personal Success	Focuses on essential skills such as time management, communication, problem-solving, and self-regulation. Participants learn how life skills can be embedded into counselling and group programs. Practical application is highlighted.
SP7305 – Addressing Career Anxiety and Performance Pressure	Examines stress related to expectations, competition, and uncertainty about the future. Participants learn supportive responses that reduce fear and comparison. Emotional reassurance is prioritised.
SP7306 – Collaboration with Teachers, Parents, and External Resources	Explores coordinated support involving educators, families, and career resources. Participants learn how to guide referrals and partnerships ethically. Professional boundaries are reinforced.
